DUFFUS, P:

Gentlemen, the Court is indeed grateful to both learned counsel for the care and attention which they have given to the appeal. We have listened with interest to their arguments and we have been able to arrive at a conclusion. The Court is allowing the appeal in respect of counts 8 and 9 of the indictment. Convictions will be quashed and sentences thereon set aside. In respect of counts 1, 3, 4, 5 and 7, the Court dismisses the appeal thereon and affirms the convictions and sentences imposed; but as time does not permit of us delivering our reasons for judgment this morning, we will put our reasons in writing at a later date.
